

Alison A. Medbery
Vice President, Finance
Ball Aerospace

Alison Medbery is the Vice President of Finance for Ball Aerospace. She is responsible for contracts, financial planning and analysis; financial accounting and reporting; government accounting, corporate ethics and compliance; project controls, government systems compliance and policy; performance initiatives and company-level business metrics.

Medbery joined Ball Aerospace in 1995 as a business analyst and has held numerous positions with increasing responsibility in the finance organization. Most recently, she served as director, project controls, working extensively across the company to improve project controls practices. She started her career at Honeywell, Inc. as a financial analyst.

Medbery serves on the board of directors for the Community Food Share in Louisville, CO. She is also a member of the Aerospace Industry Association (AIA) Acquisition Policy Council, the AACE International and the National Contract Management Association. Medbery holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Accounting from Colorado State University.